

---

AREAS OF USAGE

---

Nourishes and protects all impregnated wooden areas (cupboards, tables, chest of drawers, doors, walls,...and naturally antiques!)

---

USAGE

---

Please, apply some wood balsam onto a soft cotton or cleaning cloth, and rub the desired surfaces carefully. If the wood is especially dry, a second layer may be applied. The treated wood should be checked after a few weeks and can be treated a second time, if necessary. If you dust your wood piece with a little amount of wood balsam once in a while, it maintains the shine and you may enjoy the positive effect of essential oils again and again.

You will achieve the best results on woods, which have previously only been oiled. But of course, you can treat any impregnated or painted furniture without further ado. You will be surprised how easily scratches and water spots can be removed.

---

---

IMPORTANT

---

For especially light woods, like lime wood, as well as any raw, untreated woods, we recommend the Uni Sapon leather balsam instead of the Wood balsam. The natural colouration of the orange oil might possibly cause a slight change in colour.

While treating a large area, please open the windows during and after work, as an overdose of essential oils may cause a neural overstimulation.

---

Wood balsam

This premium product uniquely combines natural wood care with aroma therapy. Pure jojoba oil, which normally is found in nurturing natural cosmetic products, permeates deeply into the wood and nourishes it from within. Thus, the natural wood pattern is revitalized, allowing your wood furniture to shine in new splendour. As jojoba oil is a wax, seen from the chemical point of view, rancidity is no issue at all. This advantage cannot be found in any other pure plant oil. Natural essential oils spread a comfortable ambience in your living space.